

THE MAJOR MOM STORY

The founder and Chief Professional Organizer of Major Mom, Angela Cody-Rouget, has two decades order management experience. Angela served in the U.S. Air Force for 14 years where she embraced the importance of processes and organization. The majority of her career was spent in U.S. Space Command as a satellite command and control operator and as a nuclear weapons officer (missileer). She was able to obtain her MBA while working full-time in the Air Force. Angela was pregnant with her first child as she pinned on the rank of Major. After the birth of their baby girl, her husband, Frederic, gave Angela the nickname "Major Mom" and the name has stuck since 2003!

After her second child was born she realized that military life and motherhood are completely incompatible. In 2005, she resigned from the USAF in order to be a stay-at-home mom. As Angela joined mommy groups she spent time in many disorganized and chaotic homes. She heard numerous overwhelmed moms and dads who wanted to have an organized home, office and car, but didn't know where to start. They thought they should be able to handle everything, yet they hadn't learned the skills necessary to create an organized home. Angela began to develop a big place in her heart for moms, dads and their busy families. In 2006, she started an organizing company in order to restore order and serenity to the world one household at a time. In 2009, she brought on two partners and started raising up an army of Liberators (AKA Professional Organizers). Major Mom has trained 17 Liberators at their Major Mom Academy™.

Angela is one of only seven Certified Professional Organizer (CPO®) in the state of Colorado and is also certified as a Family Manager. She served as the President of the Colorado Chapter of the National Association of Professional Organizers for two years and is currently on the Board of Directors. Angela is also a member of Faithful Organizers.
